Learning & Schoolwide Focus

This April, our learning focus highlights stewardship - caring for our environment as a shared responsibility. Students are reminded that just as kindness and respect help create a welcoming school community, caring for our environment and planet helps create a healthier future for everyone.

April is Earth Month which provides us with an opportunity for students to reflect on how their everyday actions can contribute to a more inclusive, respectful, and sustainable world.

How Families Can Support This Week

Have conversations about how caring for the environment is a way to show respect and kindness to others, both now and in the future. Small actions like reducing waste or taking care of shared spaces help students see how their choices affect their community and the world around them.
